Voters Bury Plan for Junior College District

The proposal to establish a junior college district in the southwest suburbs--including the Lincoln-Way high school district--was buried under an avalanche of "no" votes in the special referendum held last Saturday.

To be defeated it was only necessary for the proposition to lose in either the unincorporated areas or in the cities and villages.

In Saturday's voting the proposal was soundly beaten in both areas.

In the cities and villages of the seven high school districts the junior college plan was rejected by a vote of 6,440 to 1,330; in the unincorporated areas it was beaten 2,606 to 479.

In the Lincoln-Way district there was but a token vote in favor of the junior college program. In the unincorporated sections only 45 ballots were cast for it as compared to 1,559 against it.

Proponents of the measure were able to collect only 53 votes in the villages of Manhattan, New Lenox, Frankfort and Mokena while the vote against it in the incorporated area totaled 1,166.

The other districts, besides Lincoln-Way, were Carl Sandburg, Argo, Reavis, Oak Lawn, Evergreen Park and Blue Island. Instead of voting by districts the territory was divided into 51 precincts by Noble Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools, some serving the incorporated sections and the remainder the rural or unincorporated areas.

According to the unofficial returns the college plan carried in only three precincts... North Palos park in the Sandburg district voted in favor of a junior college 49 to 20; in Robbins there were 20 yes votes without a single vote in opposition and in Nottingham in the Reavis district the vote was 33 to 5 in favor of the proposition. Robbins is in the Blue Island high school district.

In the incorporated area of the Sandburg district 327 "no" votes were cast to 158 "yes." In the unincorporated area of Sandburg it was 407 to 209, against the plan.

It is generally conceded that the strong organized opposition to the plan which originated in the Lincoln-Way district was chiefly responsible for the defeat of the program.

The Lincoln-Way group not only aroused the voters here but in the other districts too according to information available this week. The Lincoln-Way group circulated the proposed district with leaflets and pamphlets; inserted ads in the papers urging the people to vote "no", and also sent speakers out with the message.

One of the factors leading to the defeat of the junior college plan, observers say, was the fact that such a district would create another taxing body. People are becoming more tax conscious and emphasis that a junior college district would add to their tax bill was sufficient for many persons to vote "no" it was stated.

With the junior college plan out of the way officials of Lincoln-Way high school are hopeful that when the building bond issue comes up again it will be approved. The school plant is too small for the anticipated population, it has been pointed out by those who have studied the situation, and funds are needed to build an addition.

The bond issues have been voted down twice this year and many of those who opposed them said they did so because of the proposed formation of a junior college district.

Others claim that the bond issues were defeated because the public is opposed to paying anymore taxes.

The question of who is right, it was pointed out, can be demonstrated the next time the bond issues are submitted for approval.

Appropriation Ordinance At Frankfort Totals $108,000

The appropriation ordinance for the current fiscal year for the village of Frankfort provides for expenditures totaling approximately $108,000. This is about $4,000 higher than last year's budget.

The ordinance was adopted in its final form at the regular meeting of the village board on Monday night, June 18, and appears in detail on another page in this issue.

It was pointed out by Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark that it was not expected that the village would spend $108,000 but in the event money was available for the various items and projects listed in the budget it couldn't be spent unless there was an appropriation for that specific purpose.

More than a fourth of the money appropriated is earmarked for bond and interest. General obligation bonds outstanding will account for $12,760 for interest and principal; sewer bond principal and interest for $14,000. Also set up in the ordinance is $3,000 for depreciation and contingencies in the operation of the sewer and water system and $4,000 for the bond reserve. The ordinance carries an appropriation of $9,000 for street work and $4,000 for garbage collection. Appropriations for the police department including the magistrate's office run to around $10,000. This includes setting up funds for the purchase of a squad car.

And relative to the police department the telephone number during the period of July 6 - 22 will be Frankfort 5564.

The board also adopted an ordinance vacating the east and west alley between Kansas and Nebraska and Hickory and Walnut streets.

James C. Barringer, chief sanitary engineer of the Will county health department, appeared before the board last night to explain the functions of the department. The county health department functions in unincorporated areas automatically and also acts in cities and villages that do not operate regular health departments if such municipalities want the service.

If a village does not wish to avail itself of these health services, Barringer said, all it has to do is notify the county department. The program is not mandatory.

Right now, Barringer said, the department is endeavoring to eliminate physical deterrents to good public health practices. And emphasis is being placed now on taverns and restaurants. Later, he said, the county department will begin working with grocery and food stores. Taverns and restaurants, he added, are required to have three unit sinks for the washing of glasses, dishes and tableware used in the serving of drinks and food. One compartment is for water and soap or detergent; the second is for rinsing such ware and the third contains a chemical that sanitizes. Another requirement is a self-closing device for doors to toilets in restaurants and taverns.

Frankfort will avail itself of the county health department's services which cover a wide field.

The warm days this spring and summer have given such an oven-like atmosphere to the village hall that the board has ordered an air conditioning unit.

Teens Club Will Elect Officers at July Meeting

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Mokena 5740

The ice cream social, held by the "Teens" club, on Sunday, June 10, was considered by all as both a financial and social success. It was gratifying to see good support for the first venture these young people have attempted.

The Teens club held their meeting on Monday evening, June 11, at the school. The next social activity planned, tentatively, is for a dance. A dance committee was formed to work out the details.

There is also a nominating committee in preparation for the elections to be held at the next meeting which will be held at the school on Monday evening July 7, at 7:30 o'clock. The organization has been operating with temporary representatives chosen several weeks ago.

The June 11 meeting was the final meeting at which the young people could attend without paying their dues. The dues are $1 for the first six months. Teens who do not now pay their dues will not be permitted to attend the meeting.

Any youngster in the Summit Hill school district between the ages of 13 and 18 are eligible to join the club.

There is also a need for chaperones. The school board requires that there be a minimum of three chaperones for each meeting of the Teens Club. Any adult who would be willing to volunteer as a chaperone, is requested to contact Al Behnke at Mokena 5412.

The Arbury Hills Baby Sitters Cooperative held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Tom Tanis of 9419 West Elm Avenue on Wednesday evening, June 13. At this time the secretary's book was turned over to Mrs. Tanis by Mrs. Stensrud who had been the secretary for the previous month.

Gordon Nerren, Cubmaster, presented trophies to the winners - Chalmers Waddell for 8 year olds; Jimmy Evans for 9 year olds and William Clark for 10 year olds. Bobcat pins were presented to new cub scouts and awards were given. Den #2 won the attendance award. On Saturday, June 9th they enjoyed a hike and cook-out.

Have Enjoyable and Safe Vacation

With vacation time at hand traffic will be heavier than usual and if one would avoid being hospitalized or buried it would be well to use extra care in driving.

The Chicago Motor Club has a number of suggestions that if followed will do much to keep one out of trouble.

For instance: If you can't see the pavement between your car and the one ahead, you are following too closely, regardless of the speed. It's recommended that you remain one car length behind the car ahead of you for every 10 miles of speed. Following too closely makes it easier to have a rear-end collision and also more susceptible to the effects of the carbon monoxide fumes from the car ahead.

In night driving there are two things to consider -- your eyes and your car lights. Practically everything depends on one of these two factors, or both. Traveling too fast -- overdriving your lights is the term -- is the cause of many nighttime accidents. By the time a driver sees he must make an emergency move he is beyond the point where he can do it. A good rule is to drive two-thirds as fast at night as you would under similar daytime conditions.

Be alert for the other driver's actions. Watch the other fellow at all times, but don't let his mistakes or carelessness upset you or make you forget your own safe driving habits. Keep your temper.

Wet roads can be dangerous, especially during the first rain after a dry spell. It takes a day or two of continuous rain to wash off accumulated oil film from the highway. Stopping will require about twice the normal distance.

Remember that every stop sign is a danger stop sign. Eliminate the danger by halting and yielding right-of-way to approaching traffic as the law requires.

If on a vacation trip don't overdo. Stop when you feel fatigued regardless of how far you planned to drive that day. When you plan your trip remember you are going on a vacation, not competing in a road-race or mileage contest.

Watch for oncoming cars making left turns in front of you. Watch the approaching car's left front wheel if his turn signals aren't flashing. Be prepared to stop the moment you see his left wheel move out of its normal path.

With school children on vacation motorists must take extra precautions. Being extremely careful is a small price to pay for an enjoyable, accident-free vacation for youngsters who may forget their safety lessons while making the most of their summer freedom. Drivers should always prepare themselves for the unpredictable actions of children, especially in the summer months.

And last but not least, here are some suggestions for bicycle safety. Cyclists should:

Signal for all turns and stops. Obey all traffic signals. Yield right-of-way to pedestrians. Ride one to a bike.

Keep both hands on the handlebars except when signalling.

Ride single file close to RIGHT side of the street or roadway (with traffic, not against it).

Keep your bike in good condition, with special emphasis on the brake, bell, horn, head and tail-lights.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

There was a piece in a paper the other day which advocated that when a person was in his or her 40's then was the time to acquire hobbies that would stand them in good stead in their later years to relieve the tedium of retirement.

That is very fine. We think hobbies can be useful as well as ornamental. Sometimes one can make use of a hobby in his regular line of work and sometimes, by doing that, one develops a new line of endeavor, or a new business.

We knew a man who operated a machine shop for many years. He had a hobby that he was able to follow more easily because of the very nature of his work. He began collecting old guns but mere possession did not satisfy him. It hurt his sense of fitness when something mechanical wouldn't function.

He had old guns on walls and in cases and seldom made use of them but they would all shoot. The way he looked at it a gun was intended to shoot and shoot it must if it had house-room with him.

Being an excellent mechanic to begin with and having tools and equipment at his disposal it was only natural that he should restore the ancient guns that he acquired. About the only time he shot them was to ascertain if his labors were successful or -- with pardonable pride -- to demonstrate to a fellow collector what could be done.

Eventually other collectors came to him to restore some of the weapons they had. He was glad to do it, utilizing his spare time for the purpose. He made no charge for his time and the only thing he asked was payment for the material that went into or made up the missing parts.

As the years passed and he decided to retire he discovered that while he might close his machine shop or sell it he was in a new business and that he couldn't escape -- restoring old weapons. The word weapons is used with intent because by then his talents had been called upon to rehabilitate such things as swords, daggers, crossbows, and even a mace or two.

He was quite a skillful man and could work with silver, ivory and mother of pearl in restoring some of the more ornate pieces of the weapon makers' art.

Collectors were quite willing to pay him for his services and a profit on his materials. Only, they insisted, he mustn't quit. The upshot of it was that he did sell out his machine shop but he had a barn at his home which he fitted out with the necessary machines and tools to make a modern workshop for an ancient craft.

But it was not all shop. A part of the loft was fitted out with comfortable chairs where cronies and visiting collectors could sit and chat now and then doing a little trading.

He had a voluminous correspondence with persons in all parts of the world and work was sent in from Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, India, and the South American nations. A study of these weapons was a course in history -- ancient, medieval and modern.

He told your correspondent once that he was enjoying every minute of it and from an economic standpoint his new business was more profitable than his old. He said he wished he had "retired" several years before he did.

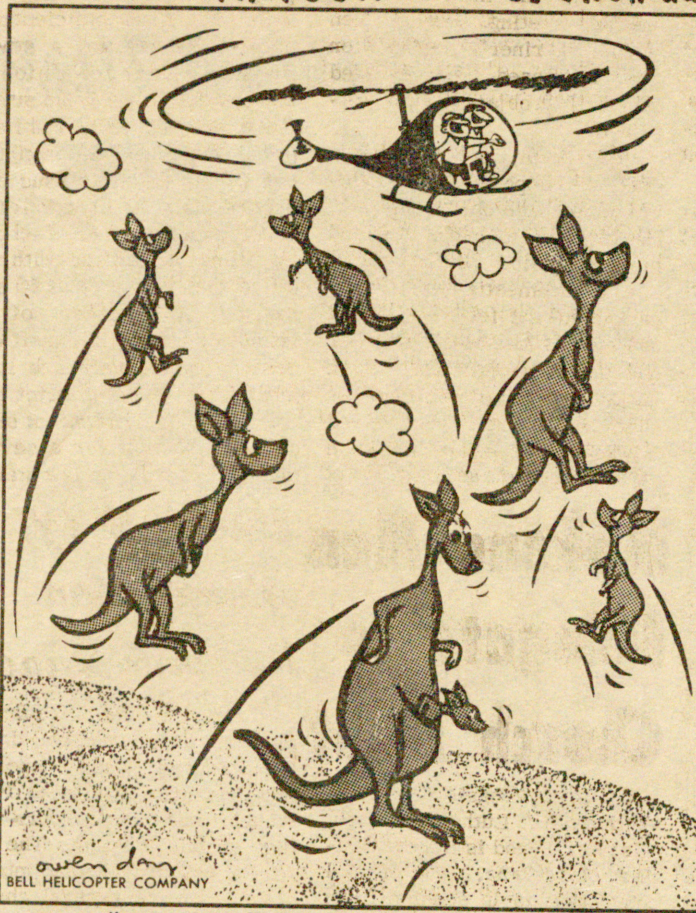

On the other hand his department has known hobbyists who have gone to far with their pet interests.

For instance -- and please understand that this is just a guess on our part -- we suspect that whoever had charge of widening a shoulder on a curve in the recent improvement of Rt. 30 was a hobbyist who collects cobblestones.

How many cobblestones he may have -- if he does collect cobblestones -- must reach a

COPTER CARTOON

by owen day

"...at last, Hopkins, we're over Australia!"

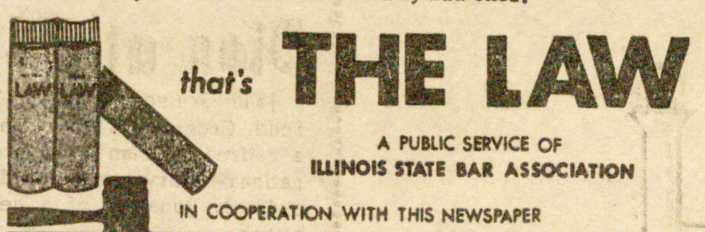

tremendous total because there must be hundreds and hundreds of them in that shoulder. It was your correspondent's misfortune to be crowded off the road at that point the other night by an approaching car that was well over the mid-line on the curve and if anyone had offered me 20 to 1 that my teeth and car would come thru without cracking I wouldn't have taken the bet.

The only thing to be seen on the surface was crushed stone but the base must have been cobblestones. This writer has encountered cobblestones in this country and abroad and there is nothing to equal them for a bone jarring ride.

And if it turns out that there are no cobblestones under the crushed rock on this curve we hit, then something new has been added to road base. This department would prefer to think that it is an isolated case of use of material by an engineer or supplier who collects cobblestones as a hobby.

And speaking of hobbies they are fine things to develop, as was said at the beginning, but one should watch it and not make hobbies out of habits -- especially bad ones.

LAND TRANSACTIONS SIMPLIFIED

Every time a home or farm or other interest in real estate is bought and sold, a question of merchantability of title arises. Every purchaser of real property will require that his seller's title be "good," "merchantable," or "marketable," and if it is not, the seller will be required, if possible, to make it such.

The words "merchantable" title, "marketable" title and "good" title are not susceptible of any definite definition. However, for purposes of present discussion, we will assume that a "merchantable, marketable, or good" title is that which will pass freely in commerce, and which will receive the approval of the attorney who examines the title for the purchaser.

As a purchaser of property desires to be certain when he buys a piece of real estate that he gets all of the legal rights which will give him full and unquestionable enjoyment of what he has purchased, his attorney examines the abstract of title, which is a condensed history of the title to a particular piece of real estate.

As an attorney examines an abstract, he follows the "chain of title" from the government down to the seller, looking for any "breaks" in the chain or any defects in the title.

The discovery of the break in a chain by the failure of one or more of the owners to convey; the discovery of an unreleased mortgage; the discovery of an outstanding interest of a limited nature in the property, such as a lease of minerals, or the grant of an easement; or the discovery of an improper or incomplete judicial proceeding, or the existence of a lien, will cause the examining attorney to declare the title "bad, or unmerchantable or unmarketable."

Such a case having arisen, it then becomes the duty of the seller to cure the defects and to make the title "good."

As a general rule, the seller will find little difficulty in curing defects of a recent origin, as the party or parties from whom curative documents are required are generally still living and records are still available. However, defects which occurred or originated many years ago are extremely difficult, if not impossible, to cure.

In order to facilitate the passage of title to land and eliminate the problems encountered in connection with title defects which originated many years ago, the legislature, in 1959, enacted a statute which is known as the "merchantability act."

The practical effect of this act is to eliminate all title defects which occurred more than 40 years prior to the date of the examination of title by the purchaser's attorney.

If the seller's chain of title is good for a period of 40 years back, then any deficiencies prior to that time are declared by the legislature to be nonexistent.

This effect is accomplished in the statute by providing that all claims of any interest whatsoever in real estate, which are more than 40 years old, are barred and no action may be brought thereon.

The only interests which are not barred by the statute are the interests of lessors and lessees, mortgagees, and certain types of easements.

This new "merchantability act" became effective as part of the law of the state of Illinois on July 14, 1959, and applies from and after that date. The act will greatly facilitate the transfer of title to property in the state of Illinois by eliminating a large number of title problems.

(This column is written to inform and not to advise. No persons should ever apply or interpret any law without consulting his attorney. Even a slight difference in the facts may change the result under the law. The Illinois State Bar Association, 424 South Second Street, Springfield, Illinois, has published a pamphlet entitled "Buying A Home" which will be sent free to any person who requests it.)

READ ACTS 3: 1-12
Ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you. (Acts 1:8)

George B. Duncan went to visit his friend at a vicarage in the early days of World War II. The vicarage was an old-fashioned stone building. Mr. Duncan was amazed to find that the house had been renovated. Everything was gleaming with chromium plate. There were such things as an electric stove, electric heaters, electric lights, and electric iron.

Mr. Duncan was surprised, therefore, to see the lady of the house using a dirty oil stove and oil lamps. The vicar observed Duncan's astonishment and said: "George, don't look so astonished. Don't you know we have a war on? We have everything except the electric power."

Without the Holy Spirit we are powerless. But He has come to empower us for service to God. His power is unlimited, and it will more than make up for our weakness. We can have as much of it as we need; for that power is in a divine person, and that person dwells with us; PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast given the Holy Spirit to us that our life and work may be effective. Help us to move forward in the faith that "all things are possible to him that believeth." For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Washington News Letter

By CONG. N.M. MASON
OUR FARM PROGRAM VS. THE KENNEDY PROBLEM: The Kennedy Administration is calling for tighter farm production controls as the solution of our farm problem. The administration proposes to spend $6.343 billion to hold down or reduce farm production. It doesn't make sense to spend billions to hold down American farm production and at the same time to offer a $1 1/2 billion tax reduction to American manufacturers if they will rebuild and modernize their factories to produce manufactured goods more effectively. Yet that is exactly what the Kennedy administration proposes. Billions not to produce on one hand and billions to produce more abundantly on the other hand.

American farmers with the help of modern equipment and fertilizers have doubled their production per acre. By improved livestock breeding and modern feeding methods they have greatly increased the value of their livestock herds and greatly increased the production of milk and its products. As a result they have piled up agricultural marketable surpluses in government storage bins.

The solution to our farm problem is a reduction in price supports and the relaxation of crop controls. This would broaden the market, ease the burden on the taxpayer, permit efficient farmers to produce freely, and induce inefficient farmers to seek other employment.

Government price supports and production controls in one form or another have been tried for 30 years now and have failed to solve the farm problem. Since 1950 the American farmer has increased his output over 25% by efficient methods of production. Since 1950 the value of our government stored surplus farm products has increased from $3 billion to $9 billion. Now the government is subsidizing farm product exports at a further cost to the taxpayers.

Today President Kennedy proposes the toughest controls ever proposed in return for subsidy payments and high support prices. The President calls his plan "managed abundance." The plan proposed actually should be called a "managed scarcity plan."

President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau has said the President's proposal is "naked coercion." The writer agrees with that characterization. High farm price supports and farm subsidies create more problems than they solve. What we need most of all today is to get the government out of both agriculture and business.

IS THE ADMINISTRATION SOLVING THE SO-CALLED UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM? The Administration has had some success in solving our national unemployment problem. It drafted 145,000 army reservists and took them off the job market for a year -- an unnecessary act. It has added 90,000 more federal employees to the payroll since coming into office. So far these two administrative actions are the only ones that have reduced the so-called unemployment rolls.

We have 4.4 million people listed as unemployed. We have 13 million women employed, about half of them married women whose husbands are also working. This situation suggests as easy way to solve the so-called unemployment problem, does it not?

The Kennedy Administration now asks for an appropriation of $600 million to spread around in public works program to help solve the so-called unemployment problem prior to the fall election. I wonder why!

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S GOVERNMENT FINANCIAL RECORD: (a) During President Kennedy's first year he added 78,000 government employees to the federal payroll at an annual cost of approximately $400 million.

(b) During President Kennedy's first year in office an Eisenhower estimated budget surplus of $1.5 billion was changed into a deficit of $7 billion.

(c) In President Kennedy's budget request for next year he is asking for a budget of $92.5 billion -- an increase of another $9 billion over this year.

In the face of these mounting costs of the federal government, how can the American people ever expect a tax cut?

Was Petition Ignored? Asks Board to Answer

When the board of directors of Schmuhl school meets in July they can be reasonably certain of at least one thing—the asking of a question which was not answered when the board met last Sunday afternoon.

The question: Why was no consideration given a petition urging that Mrs. Adeleen Warriner be retained as a teacher.

Mrs. Warriner, who has been teaching the primary grades at Schmuhl for the past four years has 90 hours of college credit along with 29 years of experience in teaching. She tendered her resignation this spring and it was accepted.

There are three directors, Robert Brown, Ronald Crisman and William Hocker. At the meeting Sunday Mr. Crisman stated that he thought the directors had acted hastily in accepting Mrs. Warriner's resignation, especially in view of the fact that a petition signed by 63% of the school families in the district had been presented to the board asking that every effort be made to retain her services.

Why was no consideration given the petition was asked Sunday by Mrs. Edwin Woodcock. She said no answer was forthcoming so she and possibly several others will ask it again when the directors next meet. Their next meeting is scheduled for July 12, at the school and in the evening.

When Sunday's meeting was called to order and the minutes read of the previous regular meeting Director Crisman asked for the minutes of a special meeting which had been held with Edwin Woodcock, a former board member. Director Hocker, who also is the clerk, stated that since he felt no conclusions had been reached at the special meeting minutes of such were unnecessary. Crisman disagreed, contending that minutes of all board meetings were legally required. Brown, the president, instructed Hocker to prepare the minutes for the special meeting and read them at the July meeting.

Cooper Oil Co. was given the contract for fuel oil for next winter; Walter Yunker is to gravel the parking space and a portion of the playground, and George Klausling is to put flashing around the chimney and install eavestroughs. Their bids were lowest.

Upon Crisman asking what had been done relative to hiring of teachers for the coming school year, Brown and Hocker read the minutes of a special meeting of June 3, at that time Miss Kathleen Keating was hired, provided she passed her teacher's examination. She was graduated this June from Joliet junior college, and is to teach first and second grade. Mrs. John Bell, New Lenox, has been hired to teach third and fourth grade, pending the outcome of her taking a teacher's examination. Mrs. Anna Ryan was expected to return to Schmuhl in the fall to teach fifth and sixth grade classes but as of Sunday had not signed a contract.

Mrs. Warriner, it was stated, will teach at another school in the fall at a higher rate of pay.

The meeting was then adjourned Mrs. Woodcock asked for a discussion period. It as then she brought up the question of why no consideration had been given the petition in the Warriner case. The petitioners, Mrs. Woodcock said, felt the school would suffer a loss if every effort were not made to retain Mrs. Warriner. Hocker then read the minutes of the special meeting June 6 when Mrs. Warriner's resignation was discussed and accepted over strong objections by Crisman.

Mrs. R. S. Corcoran read a draft of a proposed school policy which met with objections. Mr. Hocker had to leave then and the discussion period ended.

After the meeting Mrs. Woodcock said she felt she had not had any definite answers to her questions nor opportunity to ask some more she would be on hand at the next meeting and it was her hope she "would be given more time and more exact

Seek Burglar With Cut Hand

Will county sheriff's deputies are looking for a burglar with a cut hand or fingers who invaded the Robert Best home in Arby Hills Saturday night or early Sunday morning and carried off a portable TV, a portable high fidelity record player, a 12 gauge shotgun and other articles.

Entry was gained by smashing a window and that the intruder cut himself in the process was indicated by blood stains in the various rooms. He made use of supplies in the medicine chest in the bathroom to give himself first aid.

Investigators found fingerprints which are being checked.

Cars Collide: Treat 4 People for Injuries

An Arbury Hills resident, Raymond Bisping, 23, of 9448 W. Elm, was given a ticket by state police Wednesday (June 13) night following a two-car collision at the intersection of U.S. 45 and 191st street. Four persons were involved but only one of them, Mrs. Dorothy Bryant, 27, of 352 Plainfield ave., Clarendon Hills (DuPage county) was hospitalized. The other three were released after examination and first aid.

Mrs. Bryant's husband, Robert, also 37 years old, was the driver of a northbound car. Bisping was traveling south and the two cars collided when he made a left turn to go east on 191st according to the report at state police headquarters. With Bisping was Joseph Laino, 55, of 9513 Birch drive. All four of those involved in the accident were taken to St. James hospital at Chicago Heights. Bisping is charged with failure to yield right of way.

The accident occurred about 7:45 o'clock. The accident report says that Bisping apparently didn't see the north bound car until too late.

Only 16 police and one dog patrol the near crime-free country of Liechtenstein.

Must File Before June 30 For Disability Benefits

June 30, 1962 is a very important date for workers who have been severely disabled for several years, according to Robert L. Hill, District Manager of the Harvey Social Security office. Until June 30, 1962, a person may file a claim at the Harvey Social Security office for disability insurance benefits and establish a period of disability from the date his illness or injury occurred. However, the 1960 amendments to the Social Security Law established June 30, 1962 as a cut-off date for filing a claim for a disability that has existed more than 18 months prior to the date on which the application was filed.

Business & Finance

In the face of good business and prospect of continued good business, the stock market has had a severe break. As is normal in such conditions, there are many who claim they knew it all the time. However, those who were sure of such a market break were not too well known prior to their present claims. There are, of course, the fringe investment advisers who, to attract attention to their unusual services, "greatly reduced" charges, constantly predict collapse and do so month after month. Finally they are right and this will be used again and again for months and even years. Fringe customers for their services. One service of this kind had been predicting collapse for a few years prior to 1929 and finally its predictions coincided with the event. Until a comparatively short time ago, this situation in 1929 was used as a sales argument. Possibly the success of this service is securing paying customers in this manner, is now being replicated.

a man who became disabled in 1957 may establish that onset date if he files his claim before June 30, 1962, and will get a much higher benefit than if he waits until after the cut-off date to file. If he does not file a claim until July 1962, the onset of his disability is deemed by law to be January 1961, or 18 months prior to the date of his application.

Hill concluded that most people are not aware of the significance of the onset date in the computation of a disability insurance benefit. Any person who was disabled in 1960 or before should file his claim for social security disability insurance benefits before the June 30, 1962 cut-off date. If you would like detailed information concerning the requirements that must be met to entitle a person to social security disability insurance benefits, you may obtain Booklet No. DASI-29, entitled "If You Become Disabled", from the Harvey Social Security office at 15339 Turlington Avenue, Harvey.

It is absolutely essential in order to modernize some of production so that production costs will be lowered with wide profits to offset present higher costs.

The Administration is now promising that there will be a lowering of corporate taxes and also more realistic depreciation allowances. Most students seem to believe that this is an essential government move and one which will be a boon to business generally.

A leading investment service expects prospects for the rest of 1962 to be good although slowed somewhat by the break in stock prices. Gains in personal income and expansion are expected to reinforce increases in retail sales.

It is our belief that the Administration must work with business as business must work with government, for their joint success. Taxes and good employment figures with better political climate for those in power, goes with profitable business activity.

As to the outflow of gold, we think that nations with the weight of carrying on a "cold war" with aid to various segments of the world, will unbalance gold payments, but that nations of the western world are likely to work out agreements to protect one another under these economic war conditions.

It is likely that the query as to whether this "is the time to invest", is being widely asked. Most investment analysts will agree that the time to invest is when you have funds and that only crystal-clear hindsight portrays what was the best time. Each year has its own tragedies. An important investor and financier, in New York, is reported to have told his juniors at time of employment, that the only successful way to invest, is to select the best you can at the time and then watch that one.

Hints For Homeowners

By: JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER

It takes care and attention to keep trees and shrubs healthy and growing through the summer.

WATER is probably more important than any other single factor in keeping plants growing in hot weather. Large plants need lots of water. Trees or shrubs planted this year will particularly need watering throughout the season. In watering these plants, the soil should be soaked at least a foot deep. This can be done by placing a hose at the base of the plant and letting it run slowly for several hours. Rootsoakers can be used which place the water directly in the soil. Watering once every ten days should give the plants plenty of water.

Root soakers can also be used to advantage on established trees and shrubs. These plants will not need watering as often, but a good soaking is advisable whenever a week of hot weather occurs without rain. If insufficient rain falls to soak the soil, watering may be advisable anyway.

WEEDS often interfere with the natural development of trees and shrubs by competing for moisture and nutrients. Weeds should be pulled out or chopped out with a hoe. Be careful not to dig too deeply into the soil around the plants as this may injure the small feeder roots which are quite near the surface even under large trees.

INSECTS will cause a lot of damage to ornamental plants this year. Red spider mites will be particularly damaging to evergreens. Washing down evergreens with a strong jet of water once a week, and spraying with a miticide such as aramite or kelthane will help to prevent this damage.

Bagworms damage deciduous as well as evergreen plants. Lead arsenate or malathion will control them.

APHIDS are particularly destructive on deciduous plants and are quite annoying due to a sticky material, secreted while they feed, which soon covers cars or anything else parked under trees for any length of time. Aphids can be controlled by spraying with lindane.

BORERS - Most borers that attack trees or shrubs are the larvae of beetles or moths. They hatch from eggs deposited on the bark of a tree or shrub. Soon after hatching, they bore into the wood of the plant. Healthy, vigorous trees are unattractive to borers. Newly planted trees suffering from transplanting shock, and older trees growing in unfavorable places, where little moisture or food is available become attractive to the pests.

CONTROL - Prevention of borer attack is easier than a cure. To discourage borers, keep the trunks of newly set trees wrapped with heavy paper for the first two years, or until the trees are established and growing vigorously. Special paper, 3 to 4 inches wide, in rolls suitable for spiral wraps can be purchased from your garden store. Start the wrap just below the lowest branch and spiral it downward to the ground. Heap soil around the base of the tree to close the space between the wrap and the ground. Secure the wrapping in place with stout twine.

Borer attack can be prevented

June's the time to prune evergreens, early spring-blooming shrubs and hedges as well as put the finishing touches on your landscape setting.

EVERGREENS, including pine and other candle types, Cut off all or a portion of the new growth. The amount will depend on how much you want to limit growth. To limit growth severely, remove all but about one-fourth inch of the new growth. To force the plant to remain narrow, remove new growth from center bud.

JUNIPERS, YEWs, Shape these types, following the general outline of the tree's original form. Ball or box forms give a sheared look.

EARLY SPRING-BLOOMING SHRUBS. Such shrubs as forsyed, for the most part, by a DDT spray applied to tree trunks: 4 pounds of 50% DDT wettable powder or one gallon of 25% DDT emulsifiable concentrate to 100 gallons of water. Spray at monthly intervals throughout the summer to kill the young borers as they hatch from the eggs. Application of DDT to the entire tree is not recommended unless necessary because it may result in serious infestations of mites and aphids. A durable insecticide deposit can be made from DDT, powdered skim milk, and water. To a mixture of 4 parts of 50% DDT wettable powder and 1 part of powdered skim milk, add enough water to make a smooth slurry that can be applied to the trunks of the trees with a paint brush. Dead and dying branches should be pruned from infested trees and burned. Borers in the wood can be killed if the tunnels are cleaned out with a piece of wire and carbon disulfide or nicotine sulfate is injected into the holes with an oil can. The holes should be plugged with putty after treatment. Carbon disulfide is highly inflammable and can be ignited by a spark or cigarette.

this and lilac need some of the old wood removed annually and about one-third of the length of the new growth cut out. These types should look pruned when you finish.

HEDGES. Trimming hedges now, after the flush of spring growth, will lessen trimming during the summer. Trim the bottom wider than the top so that the sun may strike bottom leaves; otherwise foliage may drop because of lack of sunlight.

FINISH. Prune out straggly branches in newly planted and older shrubs. Give a refined, groomed look to irregularly shaped shrubs.

For more information on pruning landscape plantings, contact the farm adviser's office for two leaflets, Circular 708, "Pruning Narrow - Leaf Evergreens," and Circular 779, "Pruning Trees, Shrubs and Roses."

CORN BORER emergence is earlier than it has been for the past few years, but corn development is also a few days earlier. Egg laying started in field corn this week and will probably continue for the next 10 days to two weeks in central and northern Illinois.

Observe particularly advanced fields for the next few weeks, as borers could concentrate there.

Sweet corn, particularly early market, should be treated as soon as borer eggs begin hatching. In many areas hatch has already occurred, and whorl and early tassels feeding is evident.

Cook county are side-dressing corn with nitrogen each year. Side-dressing is not necessarily a better way of applying nitrogen, but it allows you to apply nitrogen when the crop needs it most and to omit it in other years. If you have a poor stand, or you can't control weeds early in the season, save the nitrogen you'd planned to side-dress. But if your stand is good and you have plenty of moisture, side-dress at an extra-heavy rate for top yields.

You'll want to consider side-dressing if you did not apply enough nitrogen before or at planting time or on sandy soils if you've had heavy rains since you applied nitrogen. Nitrogen leaches on sandy soils under these conditions. On poorly drained soils, it may be lost through denitrification.

Chest X-ray Unit to be at Orland Park July 13

Country Club Hills, Orland Park and Markham will soon be on the mobile X-ray summer survey schedule.

The annual summer survey to find unsuspected cases of tuberculosis in the suburban Cook county area is sponsored jointly by the Suburban Cook county Tuberculosis Sanitarium district and The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook county (the Christmas Seal Agency).

"Finding tuberculosis before the disease is far advanced is extremely important," said Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, field director of the SCTSD. "It reduces the length of hospitalization and clinical treatment for the TB victim and greatly insures his chances of complete rehabilitation."

"Taking the brief time to stop by a mobile unit is the cheapest and easiest way to find out if you are free from TB," he said. "And you can go to any unit convenient to your home or your place of business."

Markham will have a two-day X-ray survey beginning July 2. A unit will be located at the Canterbury Shopping Center, 159th & Kedzie, Monday X-ray hours will be 1:30 - 8:30 p.m.; Tuesday hours will be 12 noon-7:00 p.m.

The familiar mobile X-ray unit will arrive at Country Club Hills, Wednesday, July 11, to examine all adult applicants for chest X-rays. It will be located at the Southwood Public School, 187th & Lee, 1 - 8 p.m.

Friday, July 13, the unit will be located at the IGA in the Shopping Plaza, 143 & LaGrange in Orland Park. X-ray hours will be 1-8 p.m.

Western Open Home Again Set for Medinah June 28

In making its "homecoming" to the Chicago area, it is appropriate that the Western Open golf championship be presented in 1962 over the famed No. 3 course at Medinah Country Club. It was there in 1939 that the Western Open was last held in Chicago.

The Western Open, scheduled for play June 28 — July 1, is the 59th staged by the Western Golf Association. The Western Open was started in Chicago in 1899 at Glen View club, and has been held in this area 15 times.

Recognized as one of the truly great championship golf courses and possessing a rich history of tournament competition, Medinah No. 3 will be the site of a major event for the first time since the National Open in 1949.

Since that time the course has undergone many improvements, particularly new tees and enlarged greens. Thus the present layout will be receiving its first thoro testing. Golf fans thruout the area look forward with deep interest to this dramatic matching of the world's finest players against one of the world's finest courses.

In a technical sense, Medinah No. 3 is described as the "thinking golfer's golf course." It possesses great length, measuring 7,110 yards from the championship tees which will be played during the Western Open. Even so, length is secondary when its playing characteristics are evaluated.

Located for the most part in rolling woodland, the towering trees for which Medinah always is remembered place heavy emphasis on consistent accuracy off the tees. There are just enough fairway bunkers that, when combined with preferred avenues of approach to the greens, further precision is required in the placement of tee shots. Sidehill, downhill and uphill lies for the second shot become another consideration.

Because the greens are so large, trapping around the greens is more strategic than severe. Yet this trapping permits maximum protection to the many excellent pin positions. Greens not only have unusual size, but also marked contours and undulations with varying degrees and directions of pitch. Water hazards are sharply in play on three holes, and out-of-bounds problems are posed on three other holes.

The National Open in 1949 gave Medinah a thoro test. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who had deserted dentistry only two years previously, won the title with a 286 total. His 67 the second day is the competitive course

Kenyon Will be Racing to Repeat in Feature

Mel Kenyon, who thrilled the crowd at Joliet Memorial Stadium with his electrifying last-ditch rally to win the feature race last week, will be out to make it two in a row in the midjet auto races at Joliet's quarter-mile clay oval Saturday night.

Kenyon, a 28-year-old mechanic from Davenport, Ia., wrestled the lead from Bob Hauck of Joliet with just two laps remaining in the 25-lap feature event. It was the first feature victory of the season for the Hawkeye speedster, who also improved his point standing by placing second in his heat race.

Thus Kenyon joined Danny Kludis of Chicago and track leader Ray Elliott of Lockport on the roster of drivers who have gained a single feature win this year. Johnny Riva of Des-Plaines has two triumphs to his credit, one in the Memorial Day 50-lapper where he smashed the track record.

These fellows will face plenty of competition in this Saturday's 25-lap main event from such drivers as Russ Palombo of Hillside, who set a new mark for the six-lap handicap two weeks ago; Jerry Matter of Naperville; Warren Scheibe of Blue Island; Willie Wilson of Ft. Meyer, Fla.; and Jolietans Henry Pens, Bill Barnes, Bernie Wilhelm, Pancho Padilla, Russ Sweedler, Dick Atkins and Hauck.

Wins Assistantship At Bradley U.

D. Stanton Korista, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Korista, Rt. 1, New Lenox, who graduated from Bradley university this month with honors, has been awarded an assistantship in engineering there for the 1962-63 school.

He will teach freshman and sophomore engineering classes at Bradley while working on his masters degree in engineering. He received his bachelors degree at the recent convocation.

He was graduated from Lincoln-Way high school in June, 1958. This summer he will be employed in the Peoria office of the state highway department.
